'ELECTION NIGHT' IN ALBANY-DECATUR AS 3 ORGANIZATIONS PICK OUT OFFICIALS

Legion, Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Select Leaders This Evening

NOMINATIONS MADE BY THE KIWANIS ALREADY

Much Interest Centered in Elections of All Three Organizations

Tonight is "election night" in Albany and Decatur. No less than three prominent local organizations will meet this evening to name officials for the coming year.

The Morgan County Post, American Legion, will convene at 7:30 o'clock in the Decatur city hall to elect officers for 1921, according to an announcement by Post Commander Raymond R. Brown. At the same time the Morgan Kiwanis Club will meet at the Y. M. C. A. in its regular annual business meeting to choose the club leaders for next year. Two complete tickets have been nominated and officers will be elected from the nominations made several weeks ago. The Albany Chamber of Commerce will meet at 7:30 in its rooms in the Colonial building to elect officers.

Incumbent officials of all three organizations today urged the attendance of every member at the meetings tonight. Much interest is centered in the elections in the three organizations. No formal nominations have been made by the Legion nor the Chamber of Commerce, but the names of several have been suggested for post commander and president, respectively, of the two bodies.

- Ticket nominated by Frank Cook: For president—John C. White. For first vice-president—C. W. Matthews. For second vice-president—Arthur Jones.
- Board of directors—Fred Hunt, Paul Morrison, Walter Clopton, John Proctor, R. R. Davis.
- Ticket nominated by John C. White: For president—Frank C. Cook. For first vice-president—T. M. Dix. For second vice-president—H. R. Davis.
- Board of directors—Fred Hunt, John Proctor, Arthur Jones, C. W. Matthews, Walter Clopton.

Charity Cases at Local Hospital

A poor old lady, not a resident of Albany-Decatur, nearly helpless with rheumatism, spent six months at the Benevolent Society Hospital more comfortable than she had been in years. Twenty-four dollars was contributed toward her support. It cost the hospital $329. Would you have had the heart to send her away?

A little girl brought to the hospital with an infected eye would have become blind had it not been for a kind physician and hospital care. Is it not worth while to save a child from such a fate?

One day a baby was brought to the hospital by its father. The mother had deserted her husband and child. It was a pitiful object, anemic, little flesh on its bones and ravenously hungry—not even knowing how to take nourishment. It had not even comfortable clothing. An outfit was bought for it, it was fed and cared for until the father took it out of town.

Numberless instances could be given of every age and condition ministered to by the Benevolent Society and its hospital, and yet the hospital has no endowment fund, no settled income, except contributions amounting to about $60 a month. The women of the Benevolent Society have carried the burden, until the great need has been administered and cared for. More room is necessary, an elevator must be added, also a complete modern electric bell system. What will you do about it? Who will start an endowment fund?

DAILY IS GIVEN BIBLE AS TOKEN OF HIS ESTEEM

The Daily is the recipient of a very attractively bound Bible as a token of appreciation from J. Pettie Ezell, minister of the Jackson Street Church of Christ.

Dear Sir and Friend: Be pleased, for The Daily, to accept this book, the Bible, as a token of my sincere appreciation of the many kindnesses shown me during my six years of labor with the Jackson Street Church of Christ.

I realize more and more what an important factor your paper has been in the very satisfactory growth and progress of this congregation, and for myself and the entire membership, I extend my thanks and wish you and your entire force that 1921 may bring you rich blessings for abundantly above that which you ask or think.

Very sincerely,
J. PETTIE EZELL.

DR. MURRAY IS HURT WHEN AUTOMOBILE AND STREET CAR HIT

Dr. M. W. Murray, one of the best known physicians in North Alabama, narrowly escaped serious injury this morning when an automobile which he was driving collided with a street car at the intersection of Fourth avenue and Fourth street, south.

Reports from Dr. Murray's bedside this afternoon stated he was resting as well as could be expected and was not considered in any danger. He is suffering a severe bruise on his head, but is not believed to be otherwise injured.

Dr. Murray was turning his car at the intersection of the two streets, after making a call about 10:30 o'clock this morning, when it crashed into a street car said to have been headed up the avenue. The right rear wheel of the automobile was smashed and the windshield was broken.

The injured physician was rushed immediately to the office of Dr. F. P. Pettie and later was removed to his home on Sherman street. The large number of inquiries received at the home indicated the affection with which Dr. Murray is held by all Twin Citizens. As news of his injury spread, expressions of the deepest regret were heard all over the Twin Cities.

Cheap Inaugural Is Plan of Borah

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Limitation of the expense of the inauguration of President Harding was urged in the Senate today by Senator Borah. "If there is no action taken to limit these expenses, I will do something on the matter next Monday," Borah declared. "I would be in favor of limiting the federal appropriation to $10 or the amount necessary to bring the automobile to the capitol and return."

SECRETARY WILSON GIVES HOT ANSWER TO ATTACKS MADE IN MARTENS AFFAIR

Letter to Charles Recht Made Public by Labor Secretary Thursday

CHARGES "INSULTING" THE OFFICIAL DECLARES

"Soviet Was Spending Money to Stir Up Revolution," He Says

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Declaring that the recall of L. C. A. K. Martens, Soviet Russia's representative in the United States, and the order cancelling all contracts by Russia in the United States "reflects the brutal materialistic conception of the dominant group in Russia," Secretary of Labor Wilson today made public a letter to Charles Recht, counsel for Martens, announcing that he has ordered acting commissioner-general of immigration Hampton to arrange passage to Russia for Martens and those whom he desires to accompany him.

"The insulting intimation that profitable trade with Russia is so important in the American mind that we would permit our institutions to be undermined and destroyed and our liberties submerged if we can have access to that trade, only reflects the brutal, materialistic conception of the dominant group in Russia," Secretary Wilson declared.

Secretary Wilson said "the evidence is accumulative and conclusive that the military dictatorship of Russia, calling itself the Soviet government, was appropriating large sums of money to stir up insurrection by force of arms."

Folks Not Wise at All, Professor Tells Convention

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Folks may think themselves pretty wise, but they really know very little, take it from Professor Moulton of the University of Chicago. Addressing the convention of the Association for the Advancement of Science, he declared achievements beyond the comprehension of the present human mind are to be recorded by future generations. This old earth is not really old at all is another assertion made by the professor. In fact the earth has hardly emerged from the infant class, scientific studies indicate, he said, and the future existence of the earth is one million times one million years.

THE EXTRA PRIZE GOLD OFFER IS POPULAR WITH CONTESTANTS

"Gasoline Money" Meets With Instant Approval of Workers—Good Time for New Contestants to Enter and "Kill Two Birds With One Stone," Viz: Win $100 Gold Prize and Car, Too—$100 Extra for Ten Days' Special Effort Is Attractive Offer Indeed.

The majority of the contestants have requested the discontinuance of the free vote coupon while the EXTRA GOLD OFFER is on. The request is granted and for the present it will be omitted. All wish to devote their spare time to taking subscriptions instead of gathering the coupons as one's efforts directed to taking subscriptions can be applied to far greater advantage. The free credit coupons already issued may be sent direct to the campaign office and proper credit will be given the contestant for whom they are cast. Persons who are regular readers at the present time may pay their subscriptions in advance and give credits to their favorite.

With a tenfold increase of interest, nearly every contestant in the Automobile Campaign has started out with renewed determination to take advantage of the extra $100 offer which was announced yesterday. The announcement of the extra offer of double votes was received with a tremendous burst of enthusiasm, and its liberality has appealed to everyone. No such offer has ever been made in this section before, and the efforts to give as many good things as can be afforded to the workers who are helping us to reach

No Longer Does the Fiery Italian Poet's Flag Wave Over Adriatic Port

GOVERNMENT'S TERMS ARE ACCEPTED IN FULL

Peace Exists Now Between the Italian Royalists and Jugo-Slavia

(International News Service) ROME, Dec. 30.—The Italian government has published a decree granting amnesty to Gabriell D'Annunzio's troops, it was said.

International News Service Staff ROME, Italy, Dec. 30.—War clouds, which have been hanging low over Southern Europe for nearly two years, were rolled back today when Italy began to put into effect the Rapallo treaty at Fiume. The threat of an armed break between Italy and Jugo-Slavia, over Fiume and other disputed territory on the Adriatic, was at an end, but for a year it had been intensified by Gabriell D'Annunzio, the firebrand Italian who seized Fiume and a number of islands on the Dalmatian coast in bold defiance of the Italian government.

No longer does the fiery Italian poet's flag float over the governor's palace at Fiume. Peace has come to Fiume. The delegation from the Fiume municipal council accepted all the government's terms. The conditions included the evacuation of the islands of Arbe and Veglia, which had been seized by D'Annunzio's volunteers. It is presumed the volunteer forces that occupied Fiume under D'Annunzio will be disbanded. Italian regulars will quickly occupy the Fiume garrison, if they have not already done so.

Royal warships already patrol the harbor. Under the treaty of Rapallo which D'Annunzio dramatically denounced, and which he declared he would resist to the death, Fiume is to become an independent state between the frontiers of Italy and Jugo-Slavia.

Licenses Due on January the First

Constables Fired On From Ambush

(International News Service) DUBLIN, Dec. 30.—A large contingent of Royal Irish constabulary was ambushed near Middleton, in County Cork, early today and one was killed and six wounded. Some of the wounded are reported dying. A second battle developed when policemen were rushed from Cork to Middleton. They encountered a barricaded road and while trying to break through were fired upon.

Suspension Act For Roads Vetoed

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—President Wilson today vetoed the resolution deferring for one year enforcement of those provisions of the Clayton act which requires railroads to divest themselves of interest in corporations and companies manufacturing and selling railroad equipment.

The President stated he vetoed the resolution on the ground the public should get the benefit of the legislation enacted by the Clayton act.

INCOME TAX TABLE

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 30.—"How much income tax have I to pay?" This is a question that many men will be asking themselves between now and March 15. Joel Hunter, the well known income tax authority, has compiled a convenient little table which will answer this question at a glance. This is the table:

INCOME TAXES 1920—HEADS OF FAMILIES

C. C. WILL ELECT OFFICERS TONIGHT, M'DANIEL RESIGNS

Officers for the ensuing year will be elected tonight at the regular meeting of the Albany Chamber of Commerce in the chamber's rooms in the Colonial building.

C. P. McDaniel, secretary-manager of the organization for the past year, has resigned his position here, it was stated today. The resignation was expected to come before the meeting tonight. Mr. McDaniel has made many friends since coming here from Knoxville, Tenn.

WATCH SERVICE AT DECATUR BAPTIST

STATE VICE-PRESIDENT ASA W. ENSLEY WILL DELIVER AN ADDRESS

A special watch service will be held at the Decatur Baptist church Friday night from 8 to 12 p. m. The 8 p. m. hour will be in charge of the Young People's Union with President S. R. Towns in charge. State Vice-President Asa W. Ensley and others will speak. The program will also include special songs and music. At 9 p. m. a musical program will be rendered by the choir, assisted by local talent. Mrs. T. M. Dix will repeat Roper's Chimes; Miss Pattie Kirkland will sing a solo in the mute sign language; the pastor acting as interpreter. At 9:30 the pastor, with lantern slides and charts, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "How We Got Our Bible." At 10 p. m. the Decatur Baptist Men's Brotherhood will have charge of the program and several short talks and readings will be given and officers will be elected for 1921. At 10:45 p. m. a social period will be enjoyed and a light lunch will be served by the Ladies' Aid Society in the parlors of the church. At 11:15 will occur the closing devotional service when a short sermon will be delivered, old time hymns will be sung and opportunities will be given for confession of sins, consecration and rededication of lives to God.

All members of the church and congregation were urged to be present at every hour. Visitors welcome and will be made to feel at home.

The pastor will deliver his special New Year's message at 11 a. m. Sunday, when he expects to be greeted by every possible member of the congregation. The members are requested to remain at home Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 when the committee will call to receive pledges for local expenses for 1921. The work is supported by voluntary contributions and every member is expected to pledge and to pay weekly through the envelopes supplied by the church. The budget will call for $85 per week and will include besides all local expenses, insurance, special meetings, local charity and local benevolence.

WEATHER

Fair tonight and increasing cloudiness Friday.

KIWANIS MINSTREL IS POSTPONED AS COSTUMES SCARCE

The repeated performance of the Kiwanis Minstrel, set for December 31 in the Masonic Theater, has been postponed until January 21 because of the inability of the club to obtain the costumes for the earlier date. The performance will be given for the benefit of the Benevolent Hospital.

The first performance of the minstrel was a big success, nearly $1000 being realized for the Kiwanis Christmas tree fund.

HUNTSVILLE GIRL MAKES HER DEBUT

Following in the steps of Miss Neida Humphrey, who added further laurels to her operatic career when she won a great success in Rome, Italy, Huntsville bids fair to have another celebrity in the person of Miss Rose Marie O'Neal, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy O'Neal. After several months' study in New York, Miss O'Neal made her debut in the Metropolitan cast last week, friends here have been advised.

Miss Humphrey's appearance in Rome was the greatest triumph of her career. Speaking of her appearance there, one critic says: "Miss Humphrey has attained her goal. Nothing short of this would ever have been satisfactory either to herself or her friends. From the very outset it was evident that she would attain to first position in the song world and her remarkable debut in Rome has only served to justify and to set the seal upon such a thought."

RUSSELL COUNTY IS SCENE OF TROUBLE FOLLOWING ATTACK ON A WHITE WOMAN

Negroes Barricaded Themselves in House But Were Surrounded by Posse

FOUR MEN WOUNDED; NEGROES ARE CAPTURED

Officers Are Sure That Have Guilty One Among Those Taken

(International News Service) SEALE, Ala., Dec. 30.—A lynching is feared in this section following a report that the sheriff of Russell county is bringing to Seale three negroes, captured in the Pittview settlement about 12 miles from Hartsboro, following an attack upon the wife of a prominent farmer. According to reports, the attack was made last night and trouble between whites and negroes began about 4 o'clock this morning.

A number of negroes barricaded themselves in a house. Four white men, who had gathered early in the morning to guard the house, were slightly wounded. An armed posse of about 200 men was organized and the prisoners were taken without further resistance.

Those reported wounded are: Deputy Sheriff W. E. Dozier, Julian Hunter and Joe and Bob Bagley. Their wounds are not thought to be serious. The Pittview neighborhood was aroused to a high pitch early in the morning but quiet was restored with the capture of the negroes. Officers are confident the guilty negro is among those captured.

The woman, Mrs. Joe Bagley, is said to have been at her home last night when the negroes rushed in. Hearing the screams of his wife, Bagley rushed into the room and was knocked down. After regaining consciousness he telephoned his two brothers at Hartsboro and a posse was organized.

L. A. Brown also was wounded in the fight about the barricaded house it was stated this afternoon.

PRESIDENT OF IRISH REPUBLIC REPORTED SAFE IN ENGLAND

(International News Service) BOSTON, Dec. 30.—Damian de Valera, president of the "Irish Republic" handed in England or Ireland last night, according to reports received here today by persons who have authoritative sources of information.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Officials of the Irish office, whose information is supplied by the keenest secret service agents employed by Scotland Yard, expressed belief today that Damian de Valera has left the United States and probably is in France at this time. "If he is not in England, he is very likely nearby and probably is in France," it was declared at the Irish office.

NATIONAL POLICE BUREAU

A central police bureau at Washington, with branches in different sections of the nation, through which news of the movement of well known crooks might be flashed to the community they visit as one of the plans for combatting the "crime wave" is a suggestion made at a conference of officials, called by Governor Edwards, of New Jersey. The suggestion came from Commissioner Enright, of the New York police, we are advised in news dispatches.

There seems to be little real difference in the plan of Mr. Enright and the operating methods of several of the larger detective bureaus. Its principal claim to originality is the fact that the plan has never been tried by America's police. European nations have found similar methods very satisfactory, but America must remember that many of those nations require police permits to go from one community into another. That feature would never be tolerated in this country.

Officials in the United States may be able to work out an Americanized Scotland Yard organization which would go far toward curbing the activities of the nation's best known criminals, but what of those who are not well known? Many of the crimes reported during the past two months have been traced to the hands of newcomers in the criminal fields. "Crime waves" are not always attributable to veteran crooks alone. Often the expert in the illegal professions find quietude in police circles their most opportune time for operation.

As a matter of fact there may be many objections to the establishment of a central police bureau, but if it will accomplish even the least of what its backers claim, the establishment cannot be completed too soon.

In connection with Mr. Enright's suggestion, an opportunity is provided for The Daily to make a suggestion of its own—one The Daily has long considered—the establishment of a central police station in the Twin Cities, to be supported by both municipalities. It would seem hardly necessary to require the station to be open during the day, but would it not be an excellent plan to employ a station officer to whom cases requiring attention might be reported promptly at night? Unfortunately the police forces of both cities are necessarily limited because of the expense. When a policeman is needed, as a rule, he is needed immediately. Could not the city fathers work out a system of call boxes in both cities, from which the police forces of Albany and Decatur might keep in touch with a central station? The expense would not be great and it does seem that the added protection given the citizenship would be worthy of serious consideration.

MR. HARDING'S TRIALS

Mr. Wilson has been reproached by his enemies for his hostility to advice, for his refusal to take counsel with anybody but himself. No such charge can be laid against Mr. Harding. Apparently his hunger and thirst for other men's ideas are insatiable, his appetite for suggestions is unappeasable. He can't get enough advice, seemingly to satisfy his yearnings, and he doesn't care much what it is or when he gets it. He is a whole-sale advice-collector, and he has a digestion that will assimilate anything from the rhetorical brain-food of Mr. Bryan to the subtle intellectualism of Mr. Root. Everybody with or without an idea is being called to Marion these days, and every thoughtful and thoughtless thought is being thrown into Mr. Harding's mental grist mill. We do not say this in criticism but in wonder and admiration of the assimilative powers of the president-elect. Most men would be confused if not driven mad by this multitude of counselors. But Mr. Harding has no nerves, no embarrassing imagination, no hysterical impulses. He can stand, Mr. Bryan on the one hand, and Mr. Penrose on the other, without getting flustered or sick. It takes a safe and sane man, with 100 per cent. "normalcy," to stand such a strain cheerfully and sparingly. Perhaps it may be better sometimes to be just normal rather than to be a genius.—Baltimore Sun.

"UNCLE JOE" OUT FOR RECORD

"Gladstone served fifty three years in the British House of Commons and with good election luck I hope to beat that" is the optimistic view of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, veteran Illinois congressional representative as he began his new American record for length of service in the House. Today his colleagues are celebrating the achievement, with Champ Clark, another veteran, leading in the ceremonies. Alas, poor Champ's chances of breaking the record of Justice Smith Morrill, of Vermont, went glimmering when he was defeated for reelection in the recent Republican landslide. Morrill served 43 years, nine months and 24 days. "Uncle Joe" now is adding new time to that record.

There are few figures in congress more beloved than that of the picturesque Illinoisan. Having been a Republican leader in a G. O. P. controlled congress for numberless years, "Uncle Joe" has not been as popular in the Southern states as he would have been had his policies been different, but Southern people have learned to respect "Uncle Joe's" opinions lightly. Perhaps they would have felt even more affection for him had they known he is a native of the South, having been born in Guilford, N. C.

CANADA'S LUXURIES

The Canadian government has decided to abolish practically all its taxes on luxuries, the act taking effect immediately. The reason given is the unemployment in the industries directly and indirectly affected by these taxes.

This puts a light upon luxuries which is not often allowed to illuminate their undoubtedly important part in the social scheme. Volumes of fierce invective have been written and spoken against the luxurious living of the few compared with the hand-to-hand existence of the many. But the critics and the repiners rarely stop to think of the fact that there would be more poverty and distress if it were not for this very fact of luxury. Humorous persons are fond of referring to "those who can do without the necessities of life if they can only have its luxuries." There is a big grain of truth in this facetious assertion, and that big grain is the source of much business. It is a trite saying that the luxuries of the rich furnish the necessities of the poor. But comparatively few stop to realize what it would mean if every man and woman of means lived plainly and simply and the fount of supply in so-called social extravagances were to stop its flow.

Some years ago at a time of exceptional business and industrial depression New York's four hundred were bidden to a magnificent costume ball. The bitter comments on this flaunting of wealth in the face of the general need were socialistic in their strictures, and the atmosphere they created took on a tinge of not alarming, at least, very unpleasant. A timely article pointed out how such events were social blessings instead of curses, and by the time the different trades and the immense number of work people were pointed out as benefiting by this expensive function, the amount of money distributed by it into needy homes, the eyes of the well-meaning critics, at least, were opened to the calamity which a cessation of all social entertainment in a big city would be to the working class.

When the late Queen Victoria indulged in one of her lugubrious periods of court mourning it alarmed the tradespeople of London, sometimes to the point of protest over the money loss the stopping of court festivities meant to them and their dependents. Almost every ordinary industry and trade were affected by this economy at the top. The economist will quarrel with this reasoning, but it contains elements of truth. The action of Canada is a practical answer to this carping and criticism in its showing of the intimate connection of luxuries with the economic welfare of any community, in its consequent booming of trade and circulation of money.—Baltimore American.

LOVE OF YOUR FELLOWMAN

The Christmas season, above all others, is a reminder of our duty to our God, but no other season of the year emphasizes so strongly as the Yuletide our duty to our fellowman. At this season it is well that we read again the well known lines from the pen of Leigh Hunt and consider the lesson he gives us.

ABOU BEN ADHEM (may his tribe increase!) Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace, And saw within the moonlight in his room, Making it rich and like a lily in bloom, An angel writing in a book of gold; Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold, And to the presence in the room he said, "What writest thou?" The vision raised its head, And, with a look made of all sweet accord, Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."

"And, is mine one?" said Abou. "Nay, not so," Replied the angel. Abou spoke more low, But cheerily still; and said, "I pray thee, then, Write me as one that loves his fellowmen."

The angel wrote and vanished. The next night It came again, with a great weakening light And showed the names whom love of God had blessed.— And, lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest! —Leigh Hunt.

It's an Uphill Pull for Polish Boys

Bare feet and tattered clothes, little to eat and less to wear, such is the fate of thousands of children in central and eastern Europe. These boys in Poland are only a sample of the 3,500,000 destitute youngsters that the European Relief Council plans to help through the cold days of the coming winter. To that end eight great organizations in America have merged to form the Council, the chairman of which is Herbert Hoover. Under his leadership the American Relief Administration, the American Red Cross, the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers), the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. have decided to co-operate jointly to raise $33,000,000 to help the European children over the hill.

The Extra Prize Gold Offer Is

moved easily, but we are going to give some of the best things one could imagine, and as many of them as we can afford, in order to show our appreciation of the splendid work which is being done by the loyal contestants in the boosting ranks. For this is the big time of the contest and all interest is centered upon the workers and their object, and last, but not least, upon the rewards. The offer lasts just ten days, and all who take full advantage of it place themselves just that much closer to the prize toward which they are striving, and everyone should do all they can to get in every subscription which has been promised them.

All appreciate the fact that votes are the necessary medium for winning the prizes, and now is the time to get these winning votes. No one ever thought that they would have such a splendid offer made them, especially when they take into consideration the value of the prizes which constitute the big list of good things that will be awarded shortly.

Now is the time to work. Every moment now is going to pay big dividends, and not a second of this period should be lost. Every moment has a meaning all its own. Scour your field, work the nearby towns; secure every possible subscription; and never quit trying for the day until you have assured yourself that you have done all you possibly can for that particular day. Go about with a bright smile for everyone (a grinch never makes a winner) and ask everyone you meet for a subscription. The ones who appear most unlikely are sometimes the ones from whom you secure the greatest assistance. Keep trying and things are bound to come your way.

The big campaign will come to an end in a little less than three weeks' time. Then the big prizes will be awarded; the big "melon" will be sliced. Just who will get the choicest slices can be determined now while the big offer is in force. What's the use of waiting until the last day of the campaign before getting in those subscriptions? Who knows but what the winner of the Buick or the Ford Sedan touring cars or the Pathe will be determined during this period? The consensus of opinion is that the contestant who is successful in securing enough subscriptions to land the $100 cash prize will have the best prospects of being declared the winner of the first big touring car in the end, and this is a very reasonable line of reckoning, owing to the fact that double votes, or twice the regular schedule, are given upon these subscriptions.

Hit the line hard this week, contestants, and kill two birds with one stone; win the cash prize and carry off the highest honors in the end also.

Fish Unable to Swim.

It is a fact that there are fish which cannot swim. A Brazilian fish, called the maltha, can only crawl, walk or hop. It has a long, upturned snout, and resembles to some extent a toad. The anterior fins of the maltha are quite small and are not suitable for use in the water. They are in reality thin paws which are of no service for swimming.—Dearborn Independent.

Here's a Fish Story.

Trout vary greatly within the species, according to the nature of the waters they inhabit, the variations being manifested in their color, size, form and fin development, says the American Forestry Magazine. As to their weight, Mr. Hallock, a famous American fisherman, claims to have known of one that weighed seventeen pounds, while as a rule, they do not run over three or four pounds.

WHAT ADENOIDS DO DISCUSSED
BY MORGAN'S HEALTH OFFICER

First of Series of Articles By Dr. Austin Made Public Today

By DR. E. F. AUSTIN
County Health Officer

Nature intends that we shall breathe through the nose and has so arranged matters that the air is strained, warmed and moistened as it passes through the nose. To further aid in this process, nature has provided a kind of moist cushion which helps to filter impurities out of the air. This cushion is formed of what is known as "adenoid tissue" and is similar to that which makes up the tonsils. This adenoid tissue is in the top part of the throat, behind the nose, and when it grows abnormally large it forms what is known as adenoids.

What Adenoids Do
Being located as they are, adenoids partially close the natural air passages and one of the first results of this is mouth breathing. When this condition develops, the air reaches the lungs in an unpurified condition. Moreover, it is not sufficiently warmed and moistened. Children who are thus affected snore and toss restlessly while they sleep. They are often slightly deaf and seem dull and inattentive. They are subject to repeated colds in the head and show signs of nasal catarrh. If proper treatment is not given at this time the condition soon grows worse and the child's nasal breathing becomes more and more obstructed. But this is by no means all the harm done by adenoids. They affect the voice, giving it a nasal sound, disfigure the facial expression, interfere with hearing, give rise to night terrors and open the way for serious invasion by disease germs. One of the chief disfigurements caused by adenoids is that of the jaws and teeth. The teeth of the upper jaw stick out and are not covered by the lip as they should be. The upper lip shortens. At the same time the roof of the mouth, that is, the palate, becomes narrow and highly arched, and the two jaws do not come together as they do in normal persons. Sometimes difficulty in hearing is one of the first symptoms.

Hard to Learn
Children suffering with adenoids do not, as a rule, feel well. They are often scolded for being slow in learning their lessons when they cannot see nor hear properly. They are unable to learn or work because their bodies are being slowly poisoned by germs from the large tonsils and adenoids, as well as the germs about decayed or dirty teeth. The germs from adenoids, diseased tonsils and decayed teeth are carried into the stomach with food and drink and may cause stomach or bowel diseases.

What to Do
When adenoids are large enough to give rise to any of the symptoms already described, a competent physician should be consulted at once. The operation for the removal of adenoids is a simple one and accompanied by little danger when in the hands of a skillful operator. Do not ever delay having the operation done, thinking the child will outgrow the condition, for the presence of adenoids not only endangers the child's health, but a few months' delay may cause considerable malformation of the jaws, palate, nose and face. Give the child a chance to breathe through its nose as nature intends, so that it may get pure, warm and moist air in its lungs.

OLDEST MAN IN THE WORLD IS ILL FOR FIRST TIME IN 146 YEARS

(International News Service)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 30.—For the first time in his life of 146 years, Zora Mehmed, who is said to be the oldest man in the world, is ill.

He is suffering from indigestion for which he blames a set of false teeth.

All his working life Zora has been a carrier of heavy weights, ranging from 200 to 1,000 pounds.

During the Napoleonic wars he had a bet that he could lift 500 pounds with his teeth, and he ruined them in making the attempt. He got along for some time without any teeth, and then he obtained a set which wore out.

About twenty years ago he got another set, which, he says, have always given him indigestion and have finally made him go to the hospital for treatment of the complaint.

Zora was born in Turkish Armenia, as the birth record in the mosque there shows, in 1774.

He has a son aged ninety and a young daughter of fifty. In appearance he is only about seventy.

Embargo on Arms
Still in Effect

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The embargo on arms and ammunition to Mexico, put into effect by presidential edict July 12, is still in effect, it was announced today. The announcement was made because of a statement in the morning papers, sponsored by the American Railway Association, that small arms and ammunition could be sent into Mexico freely soon.

Possible Explanation.
"Mother," said the sweet girl, "George told me solemnly that that pretty hairpin holder he gave me cost $5; yet today I saw exactly the same kind on sale for ten cents." "You know, my dear, that George is very religious," replied mother. "Most likely he bought that at a charitable bazaar."

BARNEY BOGGS

By F. W. DERSHIMER, M. D.
State Board of Health

The health officer was leaving a school in which he had finished examining the children when he met Barney Boggs.

"Doc," said Barney, "what do you say to this? Joe Bean, one of my neighbors, says he doesn't believe in this work at all that you're doing. Says it's against Providence."

"How does he make that out?" asked the health officer.

"Well, he says that the Almighty gave some of us adenoids and big tonsils and lets the teeth of some of us get bad and that it is a sin to interfere with His works."

"Joe is like a lot of people," laughed the health officer. "Trying to blame the results of his own sins on the Almighty instead of putting it where it belongs."

"How do you mean, Doc?"

"Much of our illness and disability are the result of our breaking the rules of nature. If the Almighty created the world He must have made the laws of nature as a part of His creation."

"Well, that sounds reasonable," admitted Barney. "What laws do we break, though, to get bad teeth?"

"The law that requires that we use each part of our bodies—make each part work."

"Don't we use our teeth?"

"Not as they were intended to be used. They were meant for cutting and grinding hard, tough foods—the only sort that the savage is usually able to get. Most of the stuff we eat now could be chewed without teeth as much as we generally chew it. When we fail to give them plenty of work they tend to leave us unless we take special care of them. This means the use of a tooth brush at least once, or better, three times a day."

"Well, how about bad tonsils and adenoids?" asked Barney.

"You have me there," admitted the health officer. "But though I cannot tell you why they get bad, I am sure we will some day discover that it is due to ourselves, not to the Almighty. Like other things, it may be that they are inherited, but even then they may be due to the 'sins of the fathers' and probably are."

"How about eye trouble?"

"That is nearly always due to over-use or improper use of those organs," explained the health officer. "We think nothing of using the eyes continuously almost without any rest at all, for a big part of the day. Usually we fail to have proper lights coming from the proper direction. Many of our rural schools have lighting arrangements that would be a disgrace to a prison. Is it any wonder that the children often show the need for spectacles?"

"I guess not, Doc. And I can see how this mal-nutrition you talk about is a man's own fault. The Almighty provided plenty of fruits and green vegetables, milk and eggs and so on if the people would take the trouble to raise them, and you tell me these things would prevent this condition."

"Yes."

"How about these hookworms though? It sure looks to me like the Almighty made them and I don't see how you're going to blame us for them." Barney thought he had the health officer tied up at last.

"No matter who made them, the fact remains that if people had obeyed the laws of Moses we would not have them now."

"How's that, Doc?"

"In Deuteronomy 23:12-13 Moses ordered that all excrement be buried in the ground. This, if it had been followed, would have resulted in the disappearance of hookworms long before now. So they are our own fault, too."

PRICES REACT UNDER PRES-SURE OF DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN SELLING

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Although upward of 20 notices were issued early the cotton market had a steady opening today at an advance of 6 to 12 points. The stability was due mainly to favorable cables, local covering and some buying of near positions by Liverpool. The South was a seller, however, and shortly after the call Liverpool also became a free seller, causing prices to react under last night's close by the end of the first 20 minutes.

Woman Alleged Have Sent Saws

(International News Service)
MOBILE, Dec. 30.—The statement was made at the county jail this morning that a woman was responsible for smuggling six saws into the jail here yesterday and that a warrant would be sworn out. The saws were shipped to George Davis, of Birmingham, who was held in jail awaiting trial on charges of picking pockets. It has been discovered, officials announced, the saws were sent to Mobile in a package and they were given to a negro trusty who was responsible for them finding their way into Davis' hands.

MRS. J. H. DONNELL ENTERTAINS
One of the prettiest of the holiday festivities was the bridge luncheon given yesterday when Mrs. J. H. Donnell entertained. The guests, who were invited for one o'clock, were served an elaborately prepared four-course luncheon at a beautifully appointed table. A miniature Christmas tree holding favors for each guest centered the table and place cards hand-painted in Christmas colors marked the places for ten. After lunch the favors were distributed and toasts made. Mrs. Donnell then invited her guests into the living room, where two tables were arranged for bridge. An interesting contest ensued in which Mrs. D. W. Speake was the fortunate contestant, being awarded lovely Venetian candle-sticks. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. H. N. Binford and Mrs. Marcia Bullard. The guest list included the following: Mesdames R. H. Wolcott, P. P. Gilchrist, Robert Francis, H. M. Burt, D. W. Speake and Misses Mary Lou and Unity Dancy.

MRS. ODOM ENTERTAINS CLUB
Yesterday Mrs. Herbert Odom delightfully entertained the Silk Stocking club at her home on Walnut street. The interesting game of bridge was played at three tables and resulted in Mrs. C. M. Kortrecht capturing the club prize. Mrs. Steinhart was the fortunate contestant among the guests and received a dainty hand-made handkerchief. Mrs. Steinhart of Greenville, Ala., Mrs. Tim Hudmon of Nashville, Miss J. McCalla of Knoxville and Mrs. George Wallace were the club guests for the afternoon. Following the game dainty afternoon refreshments were served by the hostess.

PEKING'S WALL OF DRAGONS
Mythical Creatures in Tiles That at First Sight Appear Surprisingly Lifelike.
One of the unexpected treasures of Peking is the dragon screen. It is barely mentioned in some of the guide-books and not mentioned at all in others. It is hidden behind a hillock in the winter palace grounds, and nine-tenths of the visitors to Peking walk within a hundred yards of it and never dream of its existence.
It is a wall perhaps 20 feet high and a hundred long, faced completely with tile cast to represent nine life-size dragons in bas relief, of various colors—yellow, purple, buff, maroon, orange, dancing gaily above emerald billows, against a pale blue sky.
Doubtless one should not speak of "life size" dragons, but these creatures of the screen are the alivest dragons one may ever hope to see; they give rise to the feeling that if a dragon lived he would be exactly like one of them.
Most sculptured Chinese dragons are lifeless, angular beasts; but here there is an almost un-Chinese vigor and audacity in the spring and twist of the lithe bodies. They leap, whirl, lunge and writhe until the spectator steps back, half afraid that they will come tumbling off the screen, striking at the unwary with their sturdy claws. There are, I believe, critics who teach that plastic art should never undertake to portray moments of activity. If this be correct, the dragons stand condemned; but if the sculptor may ever rightly give us life in its vivid, moving moments, here is a masterpiece.—James A. Muller in the National Geographic Magazine.

League Machinery Will be Discarded

(International News Service)
MARION, O., Dec. 30.—Assurance was given Senator Knox today that the Harding plan for an Association of Nations does not contemplate the use of the machinery of the present league. The Senator made this announcement following his conference with the President-elect. He declined to discuss the cabinet situation, but it was significant that he said he intended himself to introduce his peace resolution in Congress.

Trade Envoy to Britain Recalled

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 30.—M. Crassin, Bolshevik trade commissary in London has been recalled, said a Russian wireless dispatch today. It is possible negotiations between Britain and Russia for the opening of commercial relations have been broken off. The wireless said Crassin was recalled because of the alteration of Britain's position.
